Bushnell Man Faces Attempted Murder Charges

(05/19/2016) Bushnell – A Bushnell man is facing attempted murder charges after a fight at a local bar.

Steven Bruce McKenney, 53, was arrested after stabbing another man during a fight at the Woodshed Pub in Bushnell. On 05/18/2016 at approximately 8:54PM, deputies responded to the Woodshed Pub in the 7900 block of W. CR 48 after the Sheriff's Office received calls of a fight there. When deputies arrived, they found the 58 year old male victim with puncture wounds to his torso. The victim was airlifted on trauma alert to Bayonet Point Regional Medical Center.

The suspect, McKenney, who had left prior to law enforcement's arrival, was located at his residence in the 9600 block of CR 622 in Bushnell. The suspect cooperated with deputies and detectives, and was later arrested after being interviewed at the Sheriff's Office. McKenney and the victim were involved in a previous physical altercation over a sexual encounter the victim had with McKenney's wife, and last night's incident is part of their ongoing dispute.

McKenney is being held in the Sumter County Detention Center with no bond.
